Before the road west of Lynchburg was built flour was shipped by wagon from his county for seventy-five cents per square. This is about the area that it is that they took little or no interest in a part barrel. It now costs one dollar per barrel on the railroad.

Mr. Stearns said that no railroad could send empty cars through the country and then send an engine to pick them up and fetch them to its terminus at the same rate at which it could carry through freight, and he proposed to amend the bill by graduating the charges according to the distance travelled.

This bill will be reported to the State Grange, and from there, if they favor it, to the Legislature, with a memorial asking ts adoption.

General W. M. Elliott said that he was a farmer, and felt a deep interest in everything that concerned that class in the State. He believed that if this measure received the sanction of the State Grange, and was presented to the Legislature with their approval, that it would receive the attention which it deserved. Mr. M. W. Mr. Hazlewood believed when such a resolution went up to the Legislature, with the thousands of names which could be to disobey it. Mr. Ira P. Robinett declared that the best thing, in his judgment, for the Grange to do was to prepare a bill embodying the features which they desired to have acted on; then let it go to the Legislature. He approved the resolution of Mr. Hazlewood. Mr. T. T. Tredway also favored the resolution, and it was adopted. The question of sheep-husbandry was then

THE KARL CONCERT .- There was an imnense and brilliant audience at Association Hall last evening. Every available seat, and, 'in fact, we might even say" some that were scarcely available at all, were occupied. This cordial reception must have been very flattering both to Mr. Karl and were called "vested rights" in these rail- those by whom he was assisted, and gratifying to Mr. Wheat, by whose efforts and management the concert was inaugurated Mr. Karl has been a favorite here ever since he first visited Richmond, two years ago, with Miss Phillips. It was only on his next visit here, however, with the Phillips troupe that he became well known to our people, and shared honors equally with Tagliapeatri. He lost last evening nothing of the reputation he then won as an accomplished and gifted singer. Miss Swain needs no encomiums from us for slie is only too well appreciated and ad-

Her solo, "Je Suis Titania," was exquisitely rendered and rapturously applauded, as was also her duo with Mr. Karl-" She Laughing at My Sorrow," from "Mar-Mr. Karl received a hearty encore whenever he appeared, and each time responded with becoming grace. Miss Redford came in for her share of the honors of the evening, and received a welldeserved and enthusiastic encore upon her correct and expressive rendition of Hullah's " Storm." Mr. Wheat's conception of the "Audante." from Beethoven's "Pathetic Sonata," was grand, though it was not nearly so well received as his skilful performance of the less meritorious and oft-repeated "Old Folks at The quartette by the choir, and the trio by Miss Swain, Mr. Redford, and Mr. Grant, were both admirably given, and the concert altogether was a great success. We will take occasion to notice just here a villainous practice that has obtained to a shameful extent on almost every occasion where an attractive feature draws large crowds to places of amusements in our city, and one from which, we are sorry to say, the entertainment of last night was not exempt. We allude to the sharp practice of duplicating tickets for reserved seats. If managers will allow such abominable cheats, the advertising of reserved seats becomes a farce. Gentlemen, and what is worse, ladies, are subjected to the severe and mortiying ordeal of contention in the midst of a arge assemblage. The offender should be traced up and justly punished, or the manager should not attempt to reserve seats; nd we trust that measures will be taken for the correction of this abuse in future.
